Assemblyman Wood Will Seek Help For Schools

Assemblyman Robert Wood recently told Monterey Peninsula Unified School District

trustees that he will try to find help in Sacramento for schools facing soaring insurance costs and taxation of unused school sites.

Wood met with the board in an informal, 90-minute session during which trustees and school administrators listed concerns about legislative actions and the need for overhauling the state's system of financing public education.

He pledged new efforts to maintain communication with local school officials.

Insurance is of primary importance to Monterey school authorities, who are presently negotiating for insurance coverage, after having been notified that the district's current policy will be cancelled as of February 17.

Superintendent Allan J. Petersdorf did not go into detail about talks with the Insurance Company of North America, the firm that cancelled coverage of Monterey schools following a recent fire at Fitch Junior High School. However he did reveal that increased security measures proposed by that firm would cost over a quarter-million dollars and still leave the district with a $50,000 to $100,000 deductible caluse and a yearly premium of over $100,000.

He termed the firm's proposals "prohibitively expensive," but indicated he feels continued insurance coverage can be arranged.

Trustee G. Gervaise Davis III asked Wood to inquire into the possibility of a statewide school insurance system, noting that many other school districts are facing problems similar to Monterey's. Wood agreed to meet with key legislators to discuss a statewide plan.

The assemblyman also agreed to ask the legislative counsel for an opinion about the constitutionality of a bill passed last year that would require schools to pay property taxes on land not used within specific periods of time. The bill did not apply the same requirement to other public agencies with landholdings.

Wood told trustees he feels legislators will be able to place a new school finance measure on the June ballot, but said he doubts any overhaul of school financing will provide schools with additional money. Rather, he explained, such a measure would probably be designed to simply shift the burden of cost from property owners and count on revenue from an increase in the sales tax.

Veroce Criticizes Rogers

Secretary of State William Rogers is living in the past, in the opinion of Congressional Candidate Mel Veroce of Monterey.

Addressing a group in Monterey, Veroce said, "Rogers' attack on Senator Muskie for his criticism of President Nixon's peace offer reminds us that from the very beginning of our Indochina involvement we have been fed the baloney that criticism of our Asian policies is unpatriotic. Apparently Mr. Rogers is one of the last to learn that the American people no longer fall for that tax-supported propaganda line."

About the effect of the criticism on the outcome of the peace talks, the candidate said, "It would achieve peace sooner. Until criticism forces our Administration to adopt honest realistic approaches there will never be an end to the war. I would personally rather have the rest of the world know that we are divided because some of us are intelligent and concerned about our country than to have them think we are all like President Nixon and Melvin Laird."

When all the songs have been sung;
When all the bells have been rung;

When you have attained the goal in life which you set for yourself; what reason will there be for you to continue in this world? Not one solitary reason. But by all means set your goals. But set them in levels. Reach your levels one-by-one. And set another level. Reach that one. And another and another. But advance in your levels, so that your next one will be a little higher. That way you can go on and on. I hope I never reach my highest level. I want to always have "someplace to go." As I am attempting to reach a level I have designated for myself, I am constantly looking for someone else to go along with me -- Someone who who is probably lost or undecided or just lonely. The more people who pull for the same goal, the more likely that goal is to be attained.

Remember this, when enough people pull for the same thing simultaneously, nothing is strong enough to keep it from succeeding. That could be in any vein you may thing of.

Government - If you don't like the way the country is run, this being a Democratic form of government, it should be easy to change. How? By votes. Under the Democratic rule, the majority wins. That's simple. When enough people pull for the same thing...

Community Attendance Regulations Strengthened Hospital Is Praised

The quality of health care given to patients at Community Hospital of the Monterey Peninsula has been commended by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals.

Thomas E. Tonkin, administrator of the hospital, said recently.

Following an evaluation of a hospital survey conducted by a field representative, the Board of Commissioners of the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals has accredited Community Hospital for the maximum period of two years, Tonkin said.

"The Commission wishes to commend you for maintaining standards deserving of accreditation and for your constant effort to improve the quality of patient care," Dr. John D. Porterfield, director of the Commission headquartered in Chicago, said in a letter to Mr. Tonkin.

Dr. Porterfield said the certificate of accreditation is meant to convey the fact that an institution, its governing body, its personnel and its medical staff have collaborated to seek excellence, have accepted outside appraisal and have demonstrated substantial conformance with professionally developed and nationally applied criteria. This certificate should be a matter of pride to the facility's personnel and of reassurance to its patients.

Martin Luther King Junior High School in Seaside has initiated a series of new regulations concerning attendance.

According to B. F. DeBerry, Vice-Principal of King, "Attendance is important to the success of any student in his educational program. This school is proud of its attendance record and seriously maintains that a student should be in class at all times possible. This attendance policy has been formulated to promote this attitude and to insure a better understanding between school and home regarding attendance."

Attendance Procedures to be Followed:

*Parents are asked to call the attendance office (649-7203) before 9 a.m. on the day a student is absent. In addition, a note signed by a parent must be presented by the student upon return to school in order to secure a reinstatement. The note must be signed by one parent, explaining the absence which must contain: (a) the date of the absence from school and whether it was all day or part of a day; (b) reason for absence; (c) the student's first and last name. If a student returns without a note, he will be issued an unexcused reinstatement.

*When a student is absent from school for any reason for any portion of a school day or for any number of school days, he is to go to the attendance office upon his return for a reinstatement slip to class. The reinstatement slip must be issued prior to the student's first class of the day or upon his return to school during a day where he has missed a portion of the day. If a student whose name has appeared on the daily absence list reports to class, he will not be admitted without a reinstatement slip. He is to be sent directly to the attendance office to secure same in order to clear the absence.

*Phone calls from the attendance area will be initiated for each student absent. Spot checks will also be made, however, at the request of the administration.

*When an individual student's absence appears excessive, parents will be notified of the number of days his child has not been in school. Parents are encouraged to contact the school if they have any questions regarding attendance.

*No student will be authorized to leave campus without being released by the school nurse, attendance office, principal or vice principal. Students must clear through the office and obtain an early dismissal permit or lunch pass before leaving school for any reason whatsoever at any time other than the regular dismissal period. Students with doctor or dentist appointments are to obtain early dismissal permits from the office before school in the morning.

*Tardiness to class will be the responsibility of each classroom teacher. Tardies will be handled by each teacher according to his best judgment. If a student enters class 30 minutes late and without good reason, the teacher may consider him an absentee and refer him to the vice principal for special consideration. Students will not report to the attendance office for tardy slips.

*Class cuts will be handled by the Vice Principal and the two Community Counselor aides.

*In the case of extended illness, four weeks or longer, it is recommended that the parents contact the counseling office regarding home teaching.

*Both excused and unexcused reinstatements will be issued during the school year. No student will be reinstated to any class following his absence unless he presents a reinstatement slip to his teachers. (Excuse or Unexcused) The reinstatement slip must be circulated by the student to each class missed.

*The attendance area will be open for business at 8 a.m. each morning.

McCarley Calls For Investigation of Anti-Poverty Council

Jim McCarley, former candidate for County Supervisor and the Salinas City Council has issued a call for all concerned citizens to demand a full scale investigation of the Monterey County Anti-Poverty Coordinating Council.

Citing the heavy turnover in top level personnel at the local command post for the "War on Poverty," McCarley charged that the Agency's office at 6 W. Gabilan in Salinas has become the scene of a power struggle which is being waged at the expense of taxpayers in Monterey County.

The local Anti-Poverty agency is currently in the process of responding to an audit which concluded that federal money grant guidelines were violated in the spending of $80,000. The current Executive Director is charged with forging the board chairman's name to a $400 check which was allegedly cashed by a relative in the Los Angeles area.

Squabbling and in-fighting, says McCarley is rampant and has been for the past two years or more. Things are in such a sorry mess right now that the poor people of this county stand a good chance of being orphaned by the OEO.

On the other hand, McCarley charged, as long as things go on as they have been, Monterey County taxpayers are being bled by and for the benefit of the local troop of poor professionals...or professional leaders of the poor.

McCarley added that adequate administrative controls obviously do not exist at the local level. The result has been chaotic. The poor have suffered and so have the taxpayers who have a right to expect that public money will be spent with reasonable prudence.

McCarley urges all his friends who supported him in the recent elections to demand the immediate resignation of the entire staff of the Monterey County Anti-Poverty Council.

"I would like to see one Peninsula plan for all the cities which would include coastline development. Currently, there are four cities on South Monterey Bay with four separate plans, and haphazard development can only lead to desecration of our environment. The Monterey Peninsula presently enjoys an international reputation which pictures the Peninsula as one of the garden spots of the world. We need to enhance this reputation."

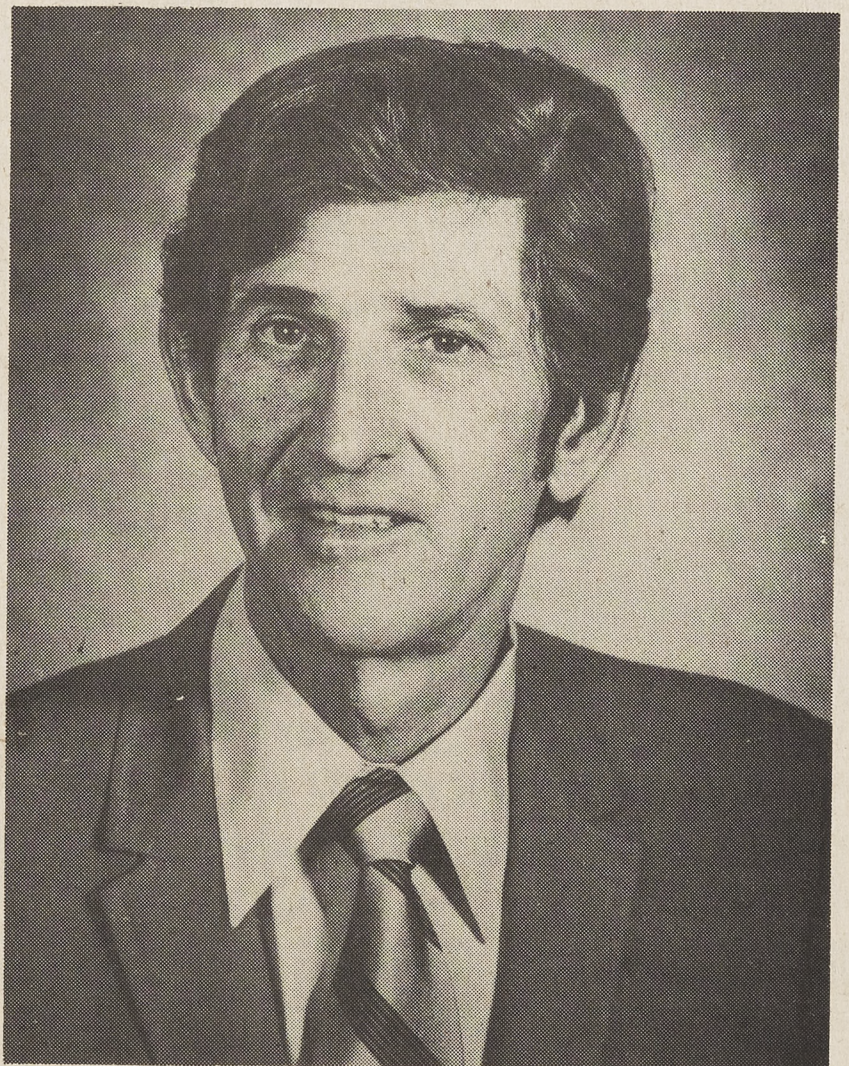

"I'm grateful for the confidence of the many people who have asked me to be a candidate for this office, and I will do my best to deserve that trust."

Petersdorf Named

Allan J. Petersdorf, superintendent of the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District, has been named as a member of an advisory committee to the state Department of Education Reading Task Force.

The purpose of the advisory group and the task force it serves is to recommend a position paper on reading that 'can have a positive effect on improving reading instruction during the 1970's'.

"I LEAVE YOU LOVE"

Marion Woodie, Community Counselor in the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District and president of the National Council of Negro Women, Monterey County, represented this area in New York City during the tribute to Mary McLeod Bethune January 14 and 15.

Activities of interests were; A Day at the United Nations; An Evening at Carnegie Hall and A Unity Building Workshop Session.

On Friday morning, January 14, representatives registered at the United Nations Plaza and were served lunch in the Delegates Dining Room. During the early part of the afternoon, guests toured the United Nations and attended their briefing session and social hour.

In the evening, one of the highlights of the session, sponsors and patrons attended the Mary McLeod Bethune Memorial Concert, which was held at Carnegie Hall. The theme was "I Leave You Love..." produced by Ellis B. Haizlip (Mr. Soul) WNET-TV and starring Ruby Dee, Novella Nelson, Kim Weston, Nikki Giovanni and the New York Community Choir.

Proceeds from fund raising affairs and contributions were deposited for the proposed park tribute to Mary McLeod Bethune, Lincoln Park, Washington, D.C., under the auspices of the National Council of Negro Women, Inc. It will be the first memorial to a black American ever erected on public land in our nation's capital. To give it the proud place it deserves, the National Park Service has rehabilitated the entire Lincoln Park complex. In fact, the memorial will bring the park to life as an oasis for concerts, plays, educational forums and true pleasure. It will be a living tribute to Mary McLeod Bethune. A symbol of the black struggle in and contribution to America.

Mary McLeod Bethune was the daughter of slaves and became an advisor to four U. S. presidents. Modestly educated, she founded Bethune Cookman College to give blacks the chance she never had. She was strong and courageous enough to stop the Klu Klux Klan when they tried to keep her people from voting. She, too, had a dream. She dreamt that the power of women united could help make the world more just. She founded the NCNW in 1935--to further her dream. She brought education, jobs, housing, voting, better health, dignity and self-reliance closer to a reality, to make life better for all. She was a gentle, but clenched-fist fighter. "The magnificent dreamer" is a beautiful and powerful symbol of the black man's proud heritage.

On Saturday, Jan. 14, the Unity Workshop was held at the Automation House from 9:30 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. Workshop sessions on vital program referred by the Executive Committee covered seven interesting topics.

Serving as National President this year is Dorothy I. Height. Honorary Chairman is Lena Horne.

Mrs. Woodie said she had a delightful and most enjoyable time. She states that she brought back lots of pertinent information for the local council. With her husband, Richard and their five sons, Kenneth, Raymond, Michael, Richard and David Woodie, she resides in Seaside.

Lectures at St. Matthias

The first in a series of weekly inquirer and confirmation classes will be led by the Reverend Chester Talton at St. Matthias Church in Seaside this Saturday, February 12. The lecture will begin at 9:45 a.m.

Fr. Talton, vicar of St. Matthias, says that all persons who would learn something from Christianity are invited to attend the Saturday sessions which will run through April 22.

What is the nature of the joy that lasts?

An answer to this question will be brought out at Churches of Christ, Scientist, this Sunday in a Bible Lesson-Sermon entitled "Soul."

"Thou wilt shew me the path of life: in thy presence is fullness of joy; at thy right hand there are pleasures for evermore," a passage from Psalms states.

Commentary from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy concludes with this statement: "Truth will at length compel us all to exchange the pleasures and pains of sense for the joys of Soul."

Everyone is invited to attend services at First Church of Christ, Scientist, Monterey. They begin at 10:30 a.m.

He lacked about nine months filling full 30, but, with two physical disabilities, staying as long as he did proved somewhat difficult task.

ly making it (if they make it at all), while others have an excess of their needs. If enough people seriously considered a plan whereas the ones with the excess could pool just their excess, not their needs, into a pile which was to be distributed according to the needs of the poor (individually), something like a loan so that the poor could be taught to invest or use their share of the excess to their greatest advantage, they could get on their feet and return the loan to the "excess pool." Many, many people who are reading this are probably saying it would never work. Or more likely they are saying that the people with the excess will never agree to that. How do they know? Has anyone approached them? Does anyone have the nerve to talk to the Kennedys' or the Rockefellers' or the Hughes' or the Mellons' or any of the ultra-rich and inquire if they would indeed assist in forming a pool? No. But if enough people asked them and if these people asked them the right way, with a sort of guaranteed, workable plan, who knows? Remember, when enough people pull for the same thing simultaneously, nothing is strong enough to keep it from succeeding. But it has to be bonafide and correct. And you have to approach it with the KNOWING that it will succeed. That applies to anything.

Love - not just love of one man to one woman. We are dealing with vastness. Love of one city to another. Love of one state to another.

Just a minute. Don't be hasty. Let's re-hash a little. Love of one city to another. I saw that smile on your face. There certainly are cities who dislike entire cities. Maybe not for a real solid reason, but there is dislike. What city? Washington, D.C., for instance. When that city is mentioned whole populations feel an instant dislike. Not because the city is bad, but just because it reminds them of Government and they dislike Government. People feel the same way about states, too. Texas, for example, many people from Texas actually deny they were born there. Why? No one really knows, except probably that state above all others have boasted of bigness. And no other state (except Alaska, and we even forget it exists most of the time, or Hawaii, and we consider that as an imaginary paradise until we visit there) can deny the vastness of Texas. So people dislike it and everyone in it. But we are still talking about love.

There's the love of one nation for another. Now we are really getting someplace. Suppose everyone in one nation or country pulled together and said they really had no concrete reason to dislike another country? And suppose they told that country the good news. You know what the result would be? Instant peace. What else? You can't fight someone who loves you. It isn't human. When enough people pull together... Follow me? Good. Keep following.

Belief - What is it? Confidence. Trust. That's all. Nevertheless, belief is a very strong word. In fact, it is really a feeling. No words could be that strong. You know the story well: There was a child born. Most of his childhood was unrecorded. In fact he was practically unknown until he became a man. I believe that as a child he was like an oily rag left in a dark, warm corner. As he grew up, like an the oily rag, spon-

Monterey Bay Chapter
March of Dimes

Mr. Porter: First of all, I would like to personally thank you so very much for all you've done for Jean and, of course, Andy during this time of crisis in their lives. I can't imagine how you're doing all you're doing and still have time to yourself. I also want you to know how much we are enjoying your column, which brings me to the point of this letter.

In reference to your column of February 3, you talked of trying so hard to find laughter to overcome depression. In our church monthly news letter this month there was an article that was written by Josh Billings, that applied to your thoughts so well that I thought I'd share it with you.

"Laughter"

"There is one kind of a laugh that I always did recommend; it looks out of the eye first with a merry twinkle, then it creeps down on its hands and knees and plays around the mouth like a pretty moth around the blaze of a candle, then it steals over into the dimples of the cheeks and rides around in those little whirlpools for a while, then it lights up the whole face like the mellow bloom on a pretty rose, then it swims up on the air, with a peal as clear and as happy as a dinner bell, then it goes back again on gold tips like an angel out for an airing, and lies down on its little bed of violets in the heart where it came from."

I'm sorry to say I don't know who Josh Billings is; whether he's a professional writer, or one of our church members. Who ever he is, he couldn't have come up with a more perfect answer to your problem. I have only met you once but I've heard so much about you that I know that little bit of laughter you're looking for must be in your heart. It's merely an outward expression of a deep love within.

On January 28, before our hour of meditation, Ken and I just happened to be in a room where we'd never been before and there just "happened" to be a poster on the wall in this room with a quote by Khalil Gibran which read, "And if you would know God, be not therefore a solver of riddles." Could this have been a coincidence? I doubt it.

Again I thank you, Clint. You're doing more than you'll ever realize for our family.

God Bless You,
Mrs. K.E. Brown
Pacific Grove

taneous combustion set in and he literally exploded into this world like a ball of fire. He spread love and goodwill and all the other wonderful things imaginable to man. And a multitude of people believed him to be the Son of God. And today, this belief is still just as strong as it was over nineteen hundred and fifty years ago. I believe he was the Son of God. So do most of you. Why? When enough people pull together for the same thing, nothing is strong enough to keep it from succeeding.

A good example of this strength and much closer to home is the fact of the candles we burned for our friend and editor, Andy Barragan. He is still with us. We KNEW the light would be seen. Enough people pulled together at that one moment - simultaneously - and it worked. God bless you all.

As I See It

By Mel Vercoe

Howard Hughes, if such a person actually exists, must feel simply awful about all the trouble he has caused by being a slightly unconventional person. The least he could have done all these years would have been to put out a weekly bulletin telling the world what he had for breakfast each day and what he thought about such crucial issues as women's lib and ping-pong tournaments.

In a way, Jack Ruby and Howard Hughes had something in common. Jack, you may remember, shot a nut by the name of Oswald, who you may also remember shot and killed President John Kennedy in Texas. Well, Jack thought he was doing the right thing. He saved American taxpayers a lot of money in court costs, and he made sure that our lenient court system in America didn't release Oswald on parole about the year 1973.

But he didn't get any thanks for it. He, himself, had to stand trial for murder and died of cancer in prison during the course of his appeals, but worse yet, nobody felt very badly about it because he had played a dirty trick on the American public. He cheated them out of all the juicy details of Oswald's trial for murder and the best they could was to try to save some of the excitement by dreaming up every imaginable possibility about Oswald's motives, his associates and so on.

And poor old Howard Hughes, drat his hide anyway. Why did he have to deny he ever knew Clifford Irving, the rather accomplished liar who claimed to have interviewed him for material for a book? Now we won't be able to enjoy the book and let's face it, even if we knew it wasn't true we could have pretended to ourselves it was true while we read it and that is what really counts. Maybe some large public demonstrations in front of McGraw-Hill's offices could force them to publish the thing, anyway.

Running for public office is very educational in many ways. For one thing you get first hand some of the things you always suspected. For example, not many people take politics very seriously beyond being interesting to read about and personal interests generally supercede interests in what might be called the common good. The concern of a concerned taxpayer, on the average, does not extend beyond having his own taxes reduced and if it is necessary to get everyone's taxes reduced in order to accomplish this, then that is just a necessary evil.

All of which may just be a carryover of the old business about survival of the fittest, which in modern times has come to mean that it is the axle that squeaks that gets the most grease, and it is no secret that the one that gets the most grease will probably last the longest, providing, of course, that all the axles don't wind up getting mired down in the mud and sinking out of sight together, which is likely to happen unless we recognize the following: that trying to get relief from high taxes by nibbling at the edges and trying a million ways to redistribute the load may help a little bit for a short time, but any real answer must come

Thoughts On Our Lives

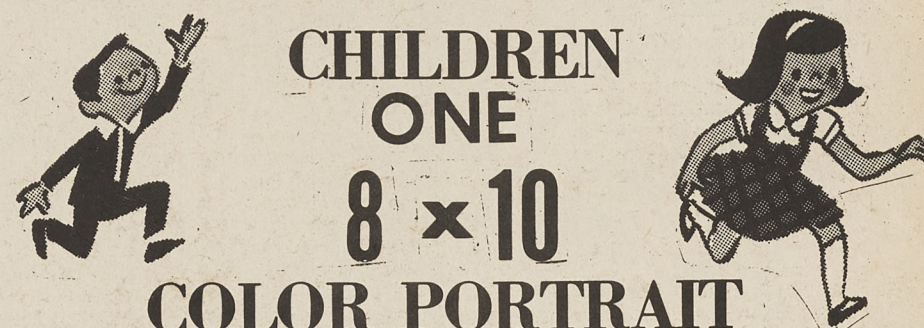

There are a thousand ways for a man to die; but only one way to live -- the right way.

Can brownouts or blackouts happen here?

There's plenty of electricity here today, and, as the chart shows, there's plenty in construction or planned to meet growing public needs and consumer demand through 1979.

There have been no brownouts or blackouts here because PG&E has built new electric facilities on schedule as needed.

But if our construction program is slowed down unduly or stopped, there definitely can be brownouts or blackouts here. We build ahead to prevent such problems. And we must continue building, because nowadays it takes about 10 years to acquire a suitable site, obtain regulatory approvals, construct and get a new power plant "on the line."

There are individuals and groups who are trying to slow down or stop construction of electric plants and transmission lines. Some even claim growth and progress are at an end or should be, and that therefore more electric power capacity is not necessary.

The fact is that power demands are going to continue to increase. And PG&E must meet these demands reliably and on time or there will be power shortages. We are doing our job now and are ready, willing and able to keep on doing it. Moreover, qualified, competent and responsible public agencies assure that in doing so we serve the best public interests, including environmental and ecological considerations.

To keep your electricity on tomorrow, PG&E must build today.

Navy Lieutenant Commander Robert E. Hansen, husband of the former Miss Janice Coykendall, was awarded the Navy Commendation Medal during ceremonies at the Naval Postgraduate School, Monterey.

He received the award for his outstanding work as the Staff Civil Engineer for the Commander Oceanographic Systems, Pacific, at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, from January 1970 to November 1971.

The Naval Postgraduate School is the only senior graduate level institution of its kind in the world and offers Bachelor's, Masters and Ph.D. degrees to selected service personnel.

Marine Lance Corporal Terumi Monroe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy B. Johnson Jr. of Marina, is a member of Marine Heavy Helicopter Training Squadron 401, based at the Helicopter Air Station, Jacksonville, North Carolina. Squadron 401 is this year's winner of the Chief of Naval Operations' Aviation Safety Award.

Monroe is a 1969 graduate of Seaside High School.

Army Private First Class Henry N. Morey, 19, son of Mrs. Elizabeth A. Burroughs of Seaside, recently completed one-week of training at the In-Country Training School near Long Binh, Vietnam.

The school, which is conducted by the 95th Military Police Brigade, consists of 40 hours of classroom instruction and weapons familiarization. Training includes instruction on the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese; ambushes and booby traps; history of Vietnam; Vietnamese customs and relations; driver's training; drugs; venereal disease; self defense and the history of the brigade.

PFC. Morey is now serving as a sentry dog handler in the brigade's 212th Military Police Company near Long Binh.

He entered the Army in June, 1971, completed basic training at Fort Ord and was last stationed at Fort Gordon, Georgia.

Army Second Lieutenant Jerry B. Edelen, 23, son of Colonel and Mrs. Larue M. Edelen, Del Rey Oaks, recently completed a nine-week ranger course at the U. S. Army Infantry School, Ft. Benning, Georgia.

The course is designed to develop exceptional endurance in the infantry soldier as well as teach him the skills of field craft, survival, mountain, jungle, airlanding and special amphibious operations.

Training in small boat operations, water crossing, jungle patrolling and survival was taught at Florida Ranger Camp, Eglin Air Force Base, while mountaineering and long-range patrolling instruction was given at Mountain Ranger Camp, Dahlonega, Georgia.

LT. Edelen entered the Army in July 1967. He received a Bachelor of Science Degree in 1971 from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point.

Navy Petty Officer Third Class Donald R. Simmons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie W. Simmons of Marina, has completed nearly two months of continuous operations in the Indian Ocean and South China Sea aboard the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier USS Enterprise.

The Enterprise was ordered to the Indian Ocean during the height of the Indo-Pakistani war in the event it became necessary to evacuate Americans from East Pakistan.

A visit to Subic Bay in the Philippines ended the arduous deployment.

U. S. Air Force Sergeant William T. Downer Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Quick of Marina, is scheduled to remain in the Antarctic until mid-February aboard the Coast Guard icebreaker Staten Island, homeported at Seattle.

He and his shipmates aboard the Staten Island are working in support of international scientific research in the Antarctic, which goes year-round. The icebreaker has been cutting sea lanes in the six-to-eight-foot-thick ice in order to aid supply ships bringing vital stores and equipment to the American forces and civilian teams at the pole.

Quick is scheduled to return to Seattle in April after stops in Tasmania, New Zealand, the Fiji Islands and Honolulu.

Recipe Corner

A delicious variation, this chicken goulash is an excellent idea for a family menu or small dinner party.

- 1 large chicken;
- 1 tablespoon butter;
- 1 onion;
- pinch paprika;
- salt;
- cups water;
- 4 potatoes, cooked (or dumplings);

Clean the chicken and cut it into pieces. Heat the butter in a saucepan and add this onion which has been diced; saute until light brown. Add the paprika and stir well and add the chicken pieces; season with salt and cover. Simmer for a few minutes, then add two cups water and simmer until done. Meanwhile, peel the cooked potatoes and cut them into four pieces, add to the sauce, bring to a boil and serve. Or you can prepare dumplings and drop them into the sauce, bring to a boil and serve. Serves four to six.
